

Junior Web Designer

- Date: July 2010
- Background: The Liquid Way are an award-winning integrated full-service communications agency with 14 full-time staff. Our clients are across a wide range of sectors and include Hitachi, American Airlines, Bang & Olufsen, Uniqlo and Samsung. We specialise in launch activity for global brands; be it launching a new clothing brand, an A380 airplane or a new shopping centre. Our award-winning campaigns are across a wide range of integrated channels including advertising, PR, digital, social media, experiential events, direct mail, print, film and event/exhibitions. We are looking for a Junior Web Designer/Developer who has commercial experience of front-end website development with XHTML, CSS and Javascript and also have some experience in PHP, MySQL, Drupal and Wordpress. The candidate should have a passion for front-end development and an interest and knowledge of emerging technologies.
- Location: Central Guildford, Surrey – 40 minutes by train from London Waterloo.
- Role: Working within a small development team you will initially be responsible for delivering day-to-day support to our clients, with scope to increase your role as your experience grows. The core of the role is front-end work, and integrating this with various back-end systems. You will also maintain a number of sites in different CMS's and in static XHTML/CSS/JavaScript.
- Key Responsibilities:
- Web design and implementation: Working with Senior Creatives and back-end developers to help deliver fully-functioning websites, including working with existing CMS and templates where required.
 - Creative: We expect the candidate to have a good creative eye and input on design and delivery methods.
 - Attention to detail: In both the design and coding of sites
 - Delivery: Ensuring clients' deadlines are met by organising hosting requirements and uploading websites accurately and on time.
- Technical Skills:
- XHTML & CSS, ideally with a strong knowledge of Javascript and Flash
 - Experience with jQuery, AJAX, PHP, SQL and XML
 - Good working knowledge of creating templates and themes for content management systems.
 - Experience of working to current W3C standards
- Personal Skills:
- Attention to detail
 - Strong design critique and ability
 - Passion for front-end design and development
 - Interest and knowledge of emerging technologies
- On Offer:
- Competitive salary
 - Open and friendly, creative working environment
 - A great place to work with great clients
 - Interesting projects which span a wide range of different clients
- Applications: In the first instance please send your CV and a portfolio of your work to richard@theliquidway.com